

Re: What is the perforce client license? [ ref:_00...

Subject: Re: What is the perforce client license? [ ref:_00DA09M15._5000G13UPcu:ref ]
From: Catherine Louie <support@perforce.com>
Date: 10/26/2016 04:54 PM
To: "alans@spectrallogic.com" <alans@spectrallogic.com>

Hello Alan,

Our p4 client and api are available in our Perforce Workshop: https://swarm.workshop.perforce.com/projects/perforce\_software-p4/

The license: https://swarm.workshop.perforce.com/projects/perforce\_software-p4/files/2015-2/LICENSE

Our P4V client does have some proprietary data and therefore is not in our Workshop. However, we do unitize packaging tools such as yum, apt-get and FreeBSD for installation purposes. So there is no issue with adding that to the FreeBSD package repository for your users. If you want the license that grant the permission for P4V, I will need to consult a colleague in our Community team. I will get back to you when I hear back from him.

Regards,

Catherine

----- Original Message -----

From: Alan Somers [alans@spectrallogic.com]
Sent: 10/26/2016 1:39 PM
To: support@perforce.com
Subject: Re: What is the perforce client license? [ ]

Can you please point me to the license file granting permission to redistribute? "All rights reserved" precludes redistribution, and that's all I've been able to find so far.

On 10/26/2016 02:33 PM, Catherine Louie wrote:

Hello Alan,

I can confirmed that there is no licensing requirement for Perforce clients or apis. So please feel free to add them to the FreeBSD package repository for your users to install them.

Do you have any further questions?

Best Regards,

Catherine

----- Original Message -----

From: Alan Somers [alans@spectrallogic.com]

Re: What is the perforce client license? [ ref:_00...

Sent: 10/26/2016 12:49 PM
To: support@perforce.com
Subject: What is the perforce client license?

I can't find any license for the perforce client or p4api. The only thing I can find is some "all rights reserved" disclaimers in the source files. Is there an official license for the client files? If Perforce allows redistribution of the binaries, then I can add them to the FreeBSD package repository, making it much easier for FreeBSD users to install them.

Catherine Louie | Technical Support Engineer
Perforce Software
T: +1 510-864-7400
<http://www.perforce.com>

-

Manage your Perforce notifications here:

<http://www.perforce.com/communication-center>

Catherine Louie | Technical Support Engineer
Perforce Software
T: +1 510-864-7400
<http://www.perforce.com>

-

Manage your Perforce notifications here:

<http://www.perforce.com/communication-center>

ref:_00DA09M15._5000G13UPcu:ref